Introduction:

On 4th August 2025, the Institution's Innovation Council (IIC) and the Research & Development Cell of Shree L. R. Tiwari Degree College organised an enlightening session on "Learn Start-up & Minimum Viable Product/Business – Mentoring Session". The session was conducted by Dr. Mahesh Bhiwandikar, an eminent Chartered Accountant with expertise in business strategy and entrepreneurship mentoring.
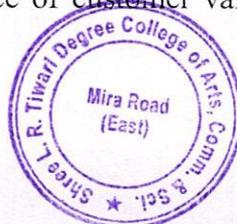

The session aimed to provide students with an understanding of entrepreneurial mindset, essential elements of a start-up, and the significance of building a Minimum Viable Product (MVP) for testing business feasibility.

Objectives of the Session:

- To introduce students to the fundamentals of start-up creation and entrepreneurship.
- To highlight the importance of developing a Minimum Viable Product (MVP) for business validation.
- To provide mentorship on practical strategies for converting innovative ideas into viable business models.
- To encourage students to take part in start-up ecosystem initiatives promoted by IIC and the Ministry of Education.

Outcome of the Session:

- Participants gained clarity on the step-by-step process of developing a start-up.
- Students learned the importance of customer validation through MVP before large-scale business investments.

- The session enhanced awareness about financial planning, business modelling, and risk management in start-ups.
- Faculty and students were motivated to innovate and explore entrepreneurial opportunities under the guidance of IIC and the Research & Development Cell.

Conclusion:

The "Learn Start-up & Minimum Viable Product/Business – Mentoring Session" proved to be an inspiring and knowledge-enriching event. Dr. Mahesh Bhiwandikar's insights into entrepreneurship and practical approaches to building a start-up provided valuable learning to the participants. The event successfully aligned with the mission of the Institution's Innovation Council (IIC) and the Research & Development Cell by fostering an entrepreneurial culture within the institution.
