Teaching Staff – Male: 5 | Female: 9 | Total: 14

Introduction:

Entrepreneurship education is not limited to students alone; faculty members play a crucial role as mentors, facilitators, and guides in nurturing entrepreneurial thinking and innovation culture within an institution. Recognizing this significant role of teaching staff, Shree L. R. Tiwari Degree College of Arts, Commerce & Science organized a Faculty Orientation and Interaction Session on the occasion of the Inauguration of the Entrepreneurship Development Cell (E-Cell) on 1st December 2025.

The faculty session was conducted in the second half of the inauguration day, with the objective of enabling teaching staff to clearly understand the vision, functioning, and scope of the E-Cell and Incubation Centre. The session also provided an interactive platform for faculty members to clarify their doubts, seek guidance, and understand how they can actively contribute to entrepreneurship, innovation, incubation, and research-based activities in the college.

Session Objectives:

1. To orient faculty members about the objectives, structure, and functioning of the Entrepreneurship Development Cell (E-Cell).
2. To help faculty understand their role as mentors, guides, and coordinators in E-Cell and incubation activities.
3. To provide a platform for teaching staff to ask questions and clarify doubts related to entrepreneurship, start-ups, incubation, and innovation.
4. To encourage faculty participation in research-driven entrepreneurship, IPR, and start-up mentoring.

5. To strengthen faculty involvement in implementing entrepreneurship and innovation initiatives at the institutional level.

Outcome of the Session:

1. Faculty members gained clarity about the objectives and working of the Entrepreneurship Development Cell (E-Cell).
2. Enhanced understanding of faculty roles in mentoring students for start-ups, research, and innovation.
3. Increased confidence among teaching staff to guide students in entrepreneurship and incubation-related activities.
4. Strengthened coordination between faculty, E-Cell, IIC, and IPR initiatives of the college.
5. Encouraged faculty involvement in future entrepreneurship development programs, research projects, and start-up mentoring.
