Introduction

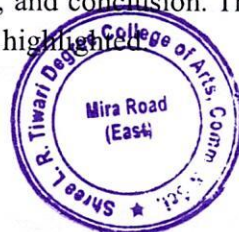

On 14th August 2025, the Department of B.Com organized a Field Project Orientation Session for all Second Year Bachelor of Commerce (S.Y. B.Com) students. The session was conducted by the faculty members of the B.Com department, as part of the course requirements for the 50-mark, 2-credit Field Project. The objective of this session was to provide students with a detailed understanding of the field project guidelines, expectations, and the overall structure for successful completion of the project. All S.Y. B.Com students were required to attend this session as part of their curriculum to ensure proper guidance in completing the field project.

Objectives

- To explain the structure, evaluation pattern, and expectations of the 50-mark, 2-credit Field Project.
- To assist students in selecting appropriate project topics, data collection methods, and research techniques.
- To guide students in preparing a comprehensive project report and understanding the documentation process.

Session Highlights

- Introduction to Field Project Guidelines: Faculty members introduced the session by outlining the objectives, structure, and assessment criteria for the Field Project. Students were informed that the project is worth 50 marks and carries 2 credits.
- Choosing the Right Project Topic: Students were advised on how to select a relevant and achievable project topic that aligns with their academic interests. The faculty emphasized that the topic should allow for both qualitative and quantitative research.
- Data Collection Methods: A discussion on various data collection methods followed, including surveys, interviews, observations, and case studies. Faculty members explained how students should approach data collection ethically and efficiently.
- Report Writing and Documentation: Detailed guidance was provided on how to structure the Field Project Report, including an introduction, literature review, methodology, analysis, findings, and conclusion. The importance of proper documentation, referencing, and formatting was highlighted.

- Q&A Session: The session concluded with a Q&A segment, where students asked questions regarding the project requirements. Faculty addressed queries on topics like timeline management, research resources, and submission deadlines.

Outcomes

- Students gained a clear understanding of the structure, evaluation, and expectations of the 50-mark, 2-credit Field Project.
- Students learned how to select relevant topics and apply effective data collection methods for their projects.
- Students acquired the necessary skills to prepare a comprehensive project report and meet submission requirements.

Conclusion

The Field Project Orientation Session proved to be an informative and essential event for all S.Y. B.Com students. The faculty provided valuable insights into the field project requirements, methodology, and evaluation criteria. Students left the session with a clearer understanding of the project's expectations and felt better equipped to undertake their field projects with confidence.
