Introduction

The NSS Unit organized an Educational and Exposure Visit to Hindu Hrudaysamrat Balasaheb Thackeray Kaladalan, Bhayandar (East), to provide experiential learning to NSS volunteers. The visit exposed students to digital learning resources, art and culture, scientific awareness, and inclusive community spaces designed for diverse social needs.

Objectives of the Event:

- To expose NSS volunteers to digital learning resources, art, culture, and scientific awareness.
- To understand the role of inclusive community spaces in social and educational development.
- To encourage innovation, creativity, and social responsibility among students through experiential learning.

Outcomes:

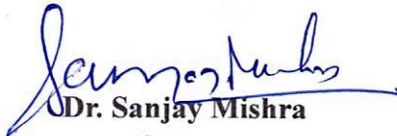

- NSS volunteers gained first-hand exposure to digital libraries, art galleries, and science-based learning spaces.
- Enhanced awareness about inclusive community infrastructure such as children zones and senior citizen zones.
- Developed a sense of social responsibility, creativity, and appreciation for community-oriented educational initiatives.
- Encouraged active participation and experiential learning beyond the classroom.

Conclusion:

The Educational and Exposure Visit proved to be an enriching experience for NSS volunteers, enhancing their understanding of digital learning, culture, science, and inclusive community development. The visit successfully reinforced experiential learning and social responsibility among students.
