Report on FYBAMMC to SYBAMMC Instructional Lecture

Dates: 23rd, 24th and 25th March 2026

Time: 8:10 AM to 10:10 AM

Venue: Room No. 101, Old Building

Conducted by:

Asst. Prof. Moumita Nath (BAMMC Coordinator)

Faculty Members of BAMMC Department

Introduction:

The BAMMC Department organized a series of Instructional Lectures for First Year BAMMC students from 23rd to 25th March 2026. The sessions were conducted with the objective of familiarizing students with the Second Year curriculum, guiding them in selecting their specialization, and providing clarity on the Field Project component. These lectures aimed to support students in making informed academic decisions for their upcoming academic year.

Day-wise Agenda Covered:

1. 23rd March 2026 – Specialization Subjects Discussion:

The session focused on introducing students to the available specialization options, namely Advertising and Journalism. Faculty members explained the scope, career opportunities, and subject structure of both streams. Students were guided on how to choose their specialization based on their interests, skills, and future career goals. The session also helped students in finalizing their specialization preferences.

2. 24th March 2026 – Introduction to Second Year Courses:

Students were given a detailed overview of the Second Year (SYBAMMC) curriculum. The faculty explained the structure of various subjects, assessment patterns, and academic expectations. This session helped students understand the transition from First Year to Second Year and prepared them for the academic rigor ahead.

3. 25th March 2026 – Field Project Guidance:

The final session focused on explaining the concept of the Field Project. Students were provided with guidance on selecting relevant and research-oriented topics. The importance of practical learning, fieldwork, and research methodology was emphasized. Faculty members also clarified expectations, evaluation criteria, and the overall process of completing the project successfully.

Objectives of the Sessions:

- To help students make informed decisions regarding their specialization subjects
- To familiarize students with the curriculum and course structure of SY BAMMC
- To provide clarity on the Field Project requirements and expectations
- To guide students in selecting relevant and research-oriented project topics

Outcomes of the Instructional Lectures:

- Students gained clarity on specialization choices and career paths
- Enhanced understanding of the Second Year syllabus and academic expectations
- Improved awareness about the Field Project and its importance
- Encouraged students to make thoughtful and informed academic decisions

Conclusion:

The Instructional Lectures conducted for FYBAMMC students proved to be highly informative and beneficial. The sessions provided essential academic guidance and helped students prepare for their transition into the Second Year. The initiative ensured that students are well-informed, confident, and ready to take the next step in their academic journey.
