Report on

Lean Start-Up & MVP Boot Camp / Mentoring

Session Details:

Title of the Session: Lean Start-Up & MVP Boot Camp / Mentoring

Date: 11 August 2026

Duration: 2 hrs Hours

Mode: Offline

Venue: Room No. 201, New Building

Activity Category: IIC Activity – Entrepreneurship / Innovation / Startup

Target Group: First Year Students from all departments

Objective of the Activity:

- To provide students with practical knowledge of Lean Start-Up principles and Minimum Viable Product (MVP).
- To guide and mentor students in validating ideas, understanding customer needs, and developing an entrepreneurial mindset.

Activity Led by: Bachelor in commerce (Management Studies) of Shree L. R. Tiwari Degree College in association with the Institution's Innovation Council (IIC) and MoE's Innovation Cell, Government of India

Theme: Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Start-up

Expert/Speaker Details:

Name: Ms. Mridula Tripathi Designation: CEO & Founder, Entrepreneur, Career Counsellor, Motivational Speaker

Organization/Institution: CEO & Founder of UniKaushal

Brief about Expert/Speaker: As CEO & Founder of UniKaushal — India's most accessible NEP-aligned skilling platform — she lead strategy, partnerships, and ecosystem development for a next-generation EdTech business that has trained 25,000+ learners across 5 states, partnered with 8 universities and 850+ affiliated colleges, and forged government-aligned alliances with NSDC and SEPC (Ministry of Commerce, Govt. of India).

Brief description of the Activity

The Lean Start-Up & MVP Boot Camp / Mentoring session was conducted as an offline, activity-oriented programme for first-year students from all departments. The Research and Development team successfully facilitated the programme in association with the Institution's Innovation Council. The session introduced students to the basic Lean Start-Up approach and the importance of understanding a problem, identifying customer needs and testing an idea before investing heavily in a complete product or venture.

A major highlight was the practical business idea activity. Students were divided into groups and developed and presented their business ideas. After a group presented, an opposing team was given the opportunity to question and evaluate the idea. This created an energetic peer-review environment in which students examined strengths, weaknesses, customer needs, feasibility and possible improvements. Students had to communicate their ideas clearly, respond to questions and defend their proposals. The exercise made ideation and validation more meaningful because students experienced the process directly. The enthusiastic participation, teamwork and healthy competition made the session highly interactive and successful.

Participant details:

Total no. of Student participation: 92

Total no. of Staff : 6 (Teaching/Non-teaching) participation:

Total no of External participation: NIL

Key Highlights:

- The session converted Lean Start-Up and MVP concepts into practical learning.
- First-year students from all departments participated actively.
- Students collaborated in groups while developing business ideas.
- Each group received an opportunity to present its business idea.
- The opposing-team evaluation created an energetic peer-review environment.
- Students practised questioning, defending, evaluating and improving ideas.
- The activity promoted customer-oriented thinking, validation and feasibility assessment.
- The Research and Development team successfully conducted an enthusiastic and engaging session.

Outcome of the activity:

Students will be able to understand the Lean Start-Up approach, identify and validate business ideas, develop an MVP, and gain practical insights into taking their innovative ideas towards start-up creation and entrepreneurship.

Feedback / Reflection

The activity generated an enthusiastic response from the students. The group presentation and opposing-team evaluation were particularly engaging because students were able to experience the challenges of explaining and defending a business idea.

- “The group activity helped us understand that a business idea should solve a real problem and be explained clearly.”
- “The questions from the opposing team helped us identify weaknesses in our idea and think about improvements.”
- “The session was interactive and gave us confidence to share our ideas and think like entrepreneurs.”
