Introduction

The Green Campus Committee, in joint collaboration with the NSS Unit and DLLE Cell, organized an experiential, skill-based workshop on "Natural Dhoop Making." The workshop was aligned with UN SDG 12 – Responsible Consumption and Production and aimed to promote eco-friendly living practices, reduce the use of chemical-laden commercial incense, and demonstrate practical waste-to-wealth techniques using organic domestic and temple waste.

Objectives

- Promote awareness of eco-friendly and responsible consumption practices.
- Create awareness about SDG 12 – Responsible Consumption and Production.
- Encourage sustainable utilization of domestic and temple waste.
- Provide practical skills in preparing natural and biodegradable dhoop.
- Promote green entrepreneurship, self-reliance, and sustainable livelihood skills among youth.

Proceedings

The workshop began with the inauguration and felicitation of the resource person, Ms. Rashmi Joshi, by the respected Principal, Dr. Anju Arya Ma'am. In her address, the Principal emphasized the importance of eco-friendly practices and responsible consumption in daily life.

Ms. Rashmi Joshi enlightened the 147 participants about the toxic impacts of synthetic binders and chemical fragrances used in conventional dhoop sticks. She highlighted how small and conscious lifestyle changes can support circular economy principles and environmental stewardship.

A live demonstration was conducted on the preparation of natural dhoop using dried floral waste, cow dung powder, sambrani, camphor, havan herbs, and natural binding agents. Students received step-by-step guidance on processing, kneading, binding, and shaping the materials.

The students actively participated in the hands-on activity and prepared their own chemical-free dhoop cones and sticks.

Outcomes

- Enhanced awareness of sustainable waste management and domestic recycling.
- Practical understanding of UN SDG 12 through experiential learning.
- Awareness of eco-friendly alternatives to chemical-based incense.
- Development of practical skills in natural dhoop making.
- Promotion of green entrepreneurship and self-reliance among students.
- Greater understanding of converting organic waste into useful products.

Conclusion

The "Natural Dhoop Making" workshop was a successful initiative that combined environmental awareness with practical skill development. It encouraged students to adopt sustainable consumption practices and understand the value of converting organic waste into useful products. The hands-on participation of 150 students made the session engaging and meaningful while reinforcing the principles of SDG 12, circular economy, environmental stewardship, and green entrepreneurship.
